

- [c. 1920-1930]

A “dragon boat” at a water festival in Macao having a Chinese junk and the city peninsula as background.

[Een “drakenboot” bij een waterfeest te Macao (Portugees)-China. Achtergrond een Chinese jonk en het eiland Macao.]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51137

- [c. 1930-1935]

Fishing nets and Chinese junks in Macao.

[Zee visscherij voor het eiland Macao (Portugees), China.]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51138

- [c. 1930-1935]

View of Macao from the harbor showing several Chinese sampans, suspected of opium smuggling.

[Gezicht op Macao vanuit de haven met de vele Chinese sampans, verdacht van opiumsmokkel.]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51133

- [c. 1930-1935]

Traffic controller in Macao.

[Een verkeersteller te Macao (Portugees) China.]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51140

- [c. 1930-1935]

Advertising to a Match Factory in Macao.

[Reclame te Macao (Portugees) (China).]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51136

- [c. 1930-1935]

A Chinese fortune teller in Macao.

[Een Chinese waarzegster in Macao (Portugees).]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51141

- [c. 1935-1940]

Portuguese colonial troops' parade in Macao.

[Portugese koloniale troepen marcheren door Macao.]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51134

- [c. 1935-1940]

View of the inner harbor of Macao from the boat arriving from Hong Kong.

[Gezicht ops stad en eiland Macao (Portugees) vanaf de boot, uit Hongkong aankomend.]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51130

- [c. 1935-1940]

Façade and stairway of the Jesuit church of the Mother of God.

[Gevel van de eens 300 jaar bestaans hebbende Japanse Christenkerk te Macao.]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51132

- [c. 1935-1940]

Opium factory in Macao.

[De opiumfabriek te Macao (Portugees).]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51131

- [c. 1935-1940]

The manufacture of fireworks, all types of firecrackers, most for export, is a very popular activity in Macao.

[Het fabriceren van vuurwerk, alle soorten voetzoekers, meest voor export naar alle werelddelen is te Macao een heel volksbedrijf.]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51139

[c. 1937]

The governor of Macao, Dr. Artur de Sousa Tamagnini Barbosa greeted by the Portuguese colony on the occasion of a parade.

[De gouverneur van Macao, Dr. Tamagnini de Sousa Barbosa bij gelegenheid van een parade, begroet door de Portugese kolonie.]

[Photograph; black and white]

NIOD 51135

