INTERNATIONAL SOURCES FOR MACAU HISTORY WEBSITE

(2014-2025)

COORDINATION:

PROF. IVO CARNEIRO DE SOUSA & PROF. RICHARD WHITFIELD

International Sources for Macau History Website is a ten years research project aiming to do the systematic inventory, summary, and digitalization of worldwide sources for the History of Macau.

International Sources for Macau History Website researches foreign archives, libraries, museums, and other institutions in Europe, Americas, Africa, and Asia all preserved sources (written, iconographic, oral, photographic, etc.) related to Macau history from 16th to 20th century. Exceptions are Macau itself, Portugal and Peoples' Republic of China institutions whose historical collections are already well known or under inventory promoted by other research and academic organizations.

International Sources for Macau History Website follows a modern concept of historical sources. Other than official documents, the research includes private collections, art, iconography, cartography, photography, radio, cinema, oral testimonies, and all material sources pertinent to the history of Macau.

International Sources for Macau History Website applies the modern methodologies and techniques of historical research, including quantitative and serial methods.

International Sources for Macau History Website provides an open-source website allowing the research of published resources.

International Sources for Macau History Website works closely to the archives, libraries, museums and other institutions holding resources for the history of Macau.

International Sources for Macau History Website gathers diverse researchers, specialists, and collaborators worldwide.

International Sources for Macau History Website is done through direct field research in the archives, libraries, museums, and institutions enlisted in the project draft presentation.
